Global Fab City Network - a systematic approach

Keywords: applied research; qualitative and quantitative evaluations

Sprache: DE/ENG

Abstract: In June 2019, the Free and Hanseatic City of Hamburg became the first German city to join the global initiative of the Fab Cities which already includes around 40 cities and regions worldwide. The socio-economic framework conditions are diverse and thus also the individual approaches of the fab cities. A systematic overview is required for further research, e.g. coalitions of actors, investments, implementation approaches.
